I am amazed at how this process has gotten mangled and combined with the help of big money interest. If this were properly done it would be divided up into manageable chunks and presented to the public to get a true representation of our desires. Instead it is all bumbled together is a massive pile of confusing statements and maps.

For me it is simple. If I do not have access to ride a mountain bike or are denied access to my public land then I will relocate to a forest managed by people that share my passions. Thankfully there are such places left.

I mostly support alternative C and E. I looked everywhere for the Gallatin Forest Partnership and it seems to be burred in all the documentation. I would like to go on record to support the Gallatin Forest Partnership and Alternative C.
