Our group, as well as Skyline Sportsmen's Asso. and the Anacunda Sportsmen's Club (Assiliates) appreciate the opportunity to comment on the Forest Plan. We feel that the Forest Service needs to place more emphasis on public access and recreational opportunities while still maintaining the spectacular beauty of the Crazy mtn complex. This could be done without logging the lower elevations as some of the alternatives require. Alternative B addresses many of the proposed logging and the lack of consideration for wildlife and their habitats. We would like to include David Strong's comments as well as John Daggota in our comments because they have a great deal more expertise on the Crazy mtn complex than our groups. We would also like to include the concerns on the Crow Nation - especially on building new trails at higher elevations - i.e. the Porcupine-Lowline trail relocation. Some of our members were on the porcupine lowline trail and the proposed relocation is totally unnecessary and a waste of tax dollar! Trail 195 is already established and goes to all the same places. The Forest Service needs to address public access issues as required in the National Multiple Use Act irregardless of which alternative is chosen. The Forest Service has been very lax in this federal mandate by allowing certain landowners in the Crazy mtns to obliterate and block centuries old trails as well as recreational opportunities. We appreciate your consideration of our concerns.
