

We are borrowing the land from future generations, so it is not really ours to waste and abuse. Any plan for land use must consider environmental impact and avoid negative such impact at all costs.