Forest Service: I appreciate all of the work and research in the Custer Gallatin Forest Plan. Here is my two cents: I am an older female mountain biker who fell in love with Montana--mountain biking there(Rattlesnake area near Missoula among others) with my husband to be back in the mid 90s. I currently am a caretaker for for my aging father. Mountain biking the Grand Targhee Pass is first on my bucket list when I can travel again. I now hear that mountain biking may be rescinded to protect the area. I understand protecting a natural area, but mountain biking would not destroy the area, but facilitate a way to appreciate the grander of the Lionhead area. These trails are some of the most spectacular in the world. They are not that easy to get too either. I live where trail access is SHARED by all---I look out and assist hikers, I pull over and dismount for horses etc. Please save access to this area---I support the non-motorized designation to protect Lionhead.
