Every year my family looks for new bike trails to explore. It's the way we share nature with our kids and they look forward to these trips as much as we do. We live in Minnesota and have been to at least 6 states to bike, including Montana. This draft plan affects areas with well established and maintained bike trails that are a public asset to users across the country. Access to these trails should not be eliminated. Alternative E with a backcountry designation would best utilize this area for the benefit of the public.
